VIRGINIA RONDS have an upward tendency. This will grieve the soul of the Anti-Mahone Post.

BORTAIL CARS are still run on the Metropolitan (F-street) line much to the annoyance of its patrons.

DUKES, the dastardly murderer of Cap tain Nutt, father of the young lady he had seduced and denounced, should be sentenced to death.

ONE would think that Gorschakoff was old enough to die without its being suspected that he was poisoned. But the cion exists, and an autopsy will be held.

Is spite of anti-polygamy laws and frequent mininations from executive authorities in this country and in other lands, it appears that Mormonism is still a vigorous and lively "twin relic."—Uncloseds Times Star.

Mormonism is no more a "twin relic of barbarism" than is the Times-Star. Polygamy is properly designated as such since all eivilized peoples have tabooed it as they have forbidden slavery; but Mormonism is not only the latest religion, but it is the only new and distinct religion America has given to the world.

THE organ has a "special dispatch" this morning to the effect that Governor Butler has received a letter from Earl Dalhousie asking how the law permitting marriage with a deceased wife's sister has worked in Massachusetts. That's nothing; every paper in the country, including perhaps even the organ itself, has received the same letter, or rather a copy of it, for it is a printed letter. The organ should fire the man who writes its "specials" from Boston.

THE dispatches this morning show one more the marked likeness in the methods of the English in the conduct of the Irish trial and those of the Government in the conduct of the Star-Route trial. The dis-conduct of the Star-Route trial. The dispatches from Dublin say;

The secret inquiry at Dublin Castle to privately hear the evidence of the informers continues daily. As no details are made public, no intelligence can be gained of the evidence thus far address, but the star chamber manner in which, the proceedings are being conducted has given rise to some ugly suspicious. It is now oven charged that the various informers are being carefully "coached," and that the testimony to be presented at the trial will clearly show this.

WEARE NOT now questioning the le-gality of bobtail cars. We do say, however, that where a company can afford to run two-horse cars with conductors and fails to do it, it is swindling the public to compel these patronizing the line to ride in the bobtail cars and act as their own conductor. The Metropolitan, or F-street, line can afford to run two-horse cars with conductors. It does not do it. Therefore, it is outrag-ing its patrons every day. If that company doesn't put on proper cars of its own accord, Congress should compel it to do the decent thing.

On LAST Thursday, March 8, The Catrice began the publication of a series of original sketches, anecdotes and observations of men and things under the heading "The Critic Abroad." This new feature sprang at once into general, widespread and deserved popularity. The best proof of this lies in the fact that the correspondent of the World lifted one of the anecdotes and sent it to his paper without credit to this paper, and that the editor of the Capital paper, and that the editor of the Capital saw it was a good thing and reprinted it in his paper, giving the World credit for it. Of course the Capital will hasten to set the matter right as to the origin of the anec-

GENERAL ADAM BADEAU is a thrifty person. He is head of the consulate at Havana and lately promulgated a rule requiring all shippers of merchandise to the United States to swear in person to the correctness of their invoices. This rule of course was very vexatious to the shippers, and they insisted upon its modification. The General consented, and modified the rule so any shipper may confer the power to sign the oath on the invoice, and to swear to it, upon any person he may deem fit. For this privilege the shipper pays a fee of $4.25. This fee appears to be the occasion of both the original rule and its subsequent modification. It is a very pretty game to line the pockets of General Adam Badeau.

THERE is and for a long time has been a judgment for $8,000 in favor of the United States against William Windom, late a Minnesota statesman. Why should that judgment be let go in silence while such a howl is made over Tom Ochiltree's case? Is it because Windom is rich and notorious, while Ochiltree is only the latter? There has not been a day since this $8,000 judgment against the wily Windom was obtained that it could not have been collected. Why was it not col-lected? Who has stood between Windom and payment? He has had the money to pay this judgment all along, and if he were an honest man it would have been paid long ago; but no one who knows him expects him to pay it so long as he can, by hook or crook, avoid it.

THE organ this morning ridicules the Equal-Rights movement in Rhode Island. This is a very unseemly thing for a Republican paper to do. Every Republican believes in equal rights as to voting when it comes to the South, and stands up and howls vigorously whenever a re-port comes from that region that a Democrat has been elected to office in a hitherto Republican county or district. There is nothing in the South worse than the disfranchisement of thou-sands of voters in Rhode Island and Massachussetts because they have not this or that qualification which wealth and fortune give. And this disgraceful and undemocratic state of things finds its support in the Republican party and its champion in the Administration organ of that party! Is it any won-der, in the light of these facts, that there is a growing class of voters, who have hitherto cast Republican ballots, who fear that the great Republican party has become a party of hypocrisy and protension rather than of principle and performance as in its oarlier and nobler days?

THE CRITIC ABROAD.

It is said that David Davis will give to his intended bride to-morrow, apon the occasion of their marriage, $500,000 in cash and bonds. Uncle David whispered this in the ear of a friend shortly badre the ad-journment of Congress. Happy thought.

Speaking of the probability of an oppo-sition gas company securing right of way by the next Congress, a well-informed friend of the old company said, with a wink:

wink:
"It will be a cold day when we have another gas works here. There is no combination of men who can get a bill through both branches of Congress giving right of way. I know what I'm talking about," and he winked significantly.

"I want to tell you," said a chronic growler last night, "that there is one thing the Critic Abroad ought to ventilate."

the Critic Abroad ought to ventilate."

"The Critic Abroad will ventilate anything that needs to be ventilated. Wratis it that should be written up?"

"Well, I and hundreds of others would like to know by what authority the Catef of the Fire Department uses the department wagon to haul the baggage of mombers of Congress to and from the department wagon to carry certain members of the press to and from their homes?"

The Critic will look into it and let you know.

David Davis, if not a trim fighter, is of a pugnacious disposition. It is said that a few days before he resigned the Vice-Presifew days before he resigned the Vice-Presidency pro tempore of the Senate he was approached by an iron-cheeked newspaper correspondent, who sought to interview him upon some of his domestic or private matters. He refused to be interviewed;
but the interviewer persisted, until Uncle David took him by the coat-collar, and hauling him up to a window, said:
"Now, you cease talking and leave this room, or 1'll throw you out of this window and break you in two."
The newspaper man subsided and departed.

It is not generally known, nevertheless it is true, that the late Alexander Stephens about thirty-four years ago, was stabbed nearly to death by a Connecticut Demo-cratic member of Congress. The difficulty grew out of a criticism of Mr. Stephens of the fire-eating doctrine caunciated by the the Connecticut statesman.

There are some people who cannot be made to believe that there is such a being as a virtuous Congressman—yes, a real genuine up and up Congressman. There is one, however, and he hails from the great State of New York and his name is John Ver Vereit.

genuine up and up Congressman. There is one, however, and he hails from the great State of New York and his name is John Van Voorhis.

Several weeks age a prominent New York city politician came down to Washington for a Federal appointment. The Congressman referred to was an enemy of this party, and 'he resolved to put in a word against him at the White House and to bring whatever influence to bear to beat him. He sent for a distinguished Stalwart statesman whom he knew stood well at the White House, and whom he believed would help him defeat the candidate for office. Upon the arrival of the Stalwart from New York the Congressman said to him in effect:

"Now, Mr. — is after an appointment, and we must defeat him. He is a bad man. He plays poker and drinks liquor, and I want you to go to President Arthur and tell him not to appoint him to office."

"Great Cæsar, man!" said the Stalwart; "you must hunt up better charges than those. They won't held water with Arthur. Hasn't the man, at some stage of his life, committed arson or highway robbery? Why, if I were to tell Arthur about this man being addicted to the heinous offense of playing poker he would laugh in his sleeves and think of the good old days we used to sit at the green-haize table and buck agin' cash other. Chet, while it is not generally known, is one of the most accomplished poker players in America. Yes, he is possessed of many of the wily tricks of John Chinaman, such as hiding cards up his sleeve, etc. Only a few months ago he scooped me in, as well as several of the old crowd, at a game in New York.

"No, my friend," continued the Stalwart, "you can't make Arthur believe that a man is a bad man because he plays poker. He knows how it is himself."

Doctor B. tells a good joke on himself, which may, to a certain extent, serve as a Doctor B. tells a good joke on himself, which may, to a certain extent, serve as a warning to others. He says that a few mornings ago, while sitting at the breakfast table, a friend of his, who is or passes for a prominent journalist, came rushing in almost breathless and said to him:

"Doc, I have just received a telegram from a gentleman in New York with whom, as you know, I have business relations, and I must go there this morning, and I am a little short, Please cash my check for $30 ?"

The Doctor examined his pocket, book and found he was short and said to his friend that the best he could do for him would be to exchange checks with him, never supposing for a moment that his offer would be accepted, but it was; whereupon he drew his check on his banking-house for $30, handed it to his friend, who in return banded to him his check for $30 on the same bank. The doctor said to him:

"Why, if you have money in this back, why all this trouble?"

His reply was about this:

"Well, you see it is too early to get into the bank; you see it is too early to get into the bank; you see?"

"Yes," replied the Doctor; "but you can get your check cashed at the depot or one of the hotels just as readily as you can mine."

"Oh! no, no! You see, Doctor, you are mine."

"Oh! no, no! You see, Doctor, you are not known at the Capital quite as well as I am yet. I can eash your check anywhere where they have the money," and out he In about two hours the Doctor says he in about two hours the Doctor says he received a note from him to the effect that he had missed the train by a few moments, but not to present the check given him for a day or two. The Doctor has the check yet; but this is a new scheme to him, and he is out $30 to learn it; and, as the journalist is a pretty clever follow, he will fix it one of these days (in his mind).

An Ohio man was met on the highway by the Critic, and he seemed to be not only in great distress, but in a great hurry to get to the train bound for the West. The Critic asked him what might be the trouble with him and why he was in such a hurry. He said he had just received a dispatch from his house which brought had news.

"What is it?" asked the Critic.

"My brother committed suicide yesterday."

day."
What was the trouble "
"He owed seventy-five cents and could not pay it."

"Well, you are to be pitied for having a brother who had no more business capacity than to be able to get in debt only seventy-To this the Ohioan acquiesced, changed his mind, and said he would not go on, but remain and presecute his fight for an office.

"D—n Senator Beck, anyway," said a lob-bylst yesterday. "I had a little turn all fixed up by which I was to receive $1,000 from the whisky ring with which to handle a newspaper-man or two. The money was ready to be turned over, but the d—d fool in charge of the matter thought he ought to speak to Senator Beck about it. Senator Beck kicked and I lost my boodle. He is too d—d close for any use, Beck is."

An East Washington man says he hopes the assessors to be appointed to make a new assessment of the property in this District will not become the tools of the rich property-owners of the northern portion of the city, as those who made the last assessment did. He says he don't want to hear of wine and orster suppore being given to those new assessors. The East Washington man is right.

Claylon, the actor, who is married to Board-cault's eidest daughter, while playing his great part of High Tewor, in "all for Her." at Brighton, and when in his best scenes, was utterly knocked over by persistent loud talking in a stage box. Utterly unable to proceed, he at least went up to the box and said: "Ladles and gentlemen, I foar my performance interruple your conversation. As soon as I can proceed without distressing you I shall reasume my part." The speech was received with tremendous applause by the audience, and cries of "turn them out." The box was muite. One gentleman sought to plex a quarrel with him afterward, but after a little conversation thought better of it.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CulkE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and retorer, and by piacing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Hewore of imposters, mitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.
